

EMPLOYER OF THE YEAR AWARD

SHORTLISTED: Prodrive Composites

At Prodrive Composites the company focusses on new employees, whether experienced or trainees, to give them an understanding of the business as a whole and how important they are to the success they all enjoy.

Staff usually spend their first few days with HR giving them a business overview as part of their induction training along with the general information required to keep staff safe, happy, heard and developed.

A dedicated trainer will work with a maximum of five trainees to understand the complex nature of their new roles with the end goal of building well-rounded, agile and process orientated technicians.

This stage may take as little as five weeks due to the skill, patience, understanding and clarity our trainers provide.

Staff have been developed from an apprentice to an inspector to a Senior Manufacturing Engineer.
