The Engineering Supply Chain Show is where engineering and manufacturing buyers go to find world-class suppliers, exclusively in the UK engineering and manufacturing supply chain.

This show-within-a-show is part of the MACH exhibition but sits as a separate 3-day event. Running from 16-18th April 2024, The Engineering Supply Chain Show will have its own location and entrance in Hall 7 - directly alongside MACH.

This new exhibition has grown out of increased demand for the successful UK Supply Chain Zone at MACH. This focused event is dedicated to buyers looking to source precision sub-contracting products and services from UK-based suppliers.

One common badge will provide unhindered access to both MACH and The Engineering Supply Chain Show, while in-hall links will ensure a seamless flow of visitors between the events.

Traditionally attracting over 25,000 visitors, MACH is the UK's national event to showcase engineering and manufacturing technologies and is complemented by The Engineering Supply Chain Show, bringing together a wider audience focused on capacity in the UK subcontracting and supply chain sectors.

Composites continue to grow in importance in the UK manufacturing and advanced engineering sector. Composites UK is pleased to support the MTA's Engineering Supply Chain Show as a forum to create new partnerships and drive the industry forward.
