

APPRENTICE OF THE YEAR AWARD

SHORTLISTED: Matthew Sellers

Matt Sellers is a passionate Composite Technician who, since joining the AMRC team as an apprentice in 2018, developed in a variety of manufacturing techniques, key among them compression moulding, becoming the principal operator and subject matter expert.

Matt shows a maturity beyond his years and has a proactive and volunteering character. He's able to engage with customers and colleagues in a very professional manner making him first choice to train new colleagues or host tours to external visitors. Matt is eager to learn and is currently enrolled on a Level 6 degree apprenticeship standard.

Away from work, Matt was humbled and incredibly grateful to announce that he had been honoured with the prestigious King's Award, a recognition that filled him with immense pride, validated his unwavering dedication and hard work and served as a testament to the support and encouragement of his loved ones and mentors throughout his extraordinary journey.
